

A note from Dr. Susan Ehrlich, CEO

Renewed Commitment and Mutual Support

The presidential election has precipitated feelings of concern, anxiety and uncertainty for many of us and, of course, for many of our patients.

Let's come together to discuss, not politics, but how we will move forward, take care of each other, plan together for an uncertain future, and renew our shared commitment to serve the people of this caring community.

We aren't certain yet about what kinds of changes may be coming in healthcare policy or funding. Let's talk about preparing for those changes, as a team, so we can best help our patients through this transition.

I hope to see you all there.

Susan
